French Healthcare conference

French Healthcare, the innovative public-private initiative aimed at bringing together under a single banner all the players in the French healthcare ecosystem to jointly promote their expertise, technologies and innovations internationally is organizing in partnership with the French Healthcare Association and Business France, a phygital conference at the France Pavilion of Expo 2020 Dubai from January 25-26, 2022 (during Arab Health).

Challenges of the French Healthcare themed fortnight

The Covid-19 pandemic has raised several questions regarding the resources allocated to health services and research in health sciences. Not every country can address the health crisis in the same way. Such an acknowledgement should drive a massive investment in essential public health services. Efforts must be at a national level but above all collective, as the pandemic has proven to us that our world is deeply interconnected.

By 2030, the health sector will have to face numerous challenges, including access to health services in all areas, the promotion of health professions, the fight against health inequalities, the attractiveness of public hospitals, an ageing population, and the inclusion of disabled people.

The French Healthcare conference offers unique perspectives on and insights into French expertise, innovations and solutions in healthcare.

French innovations for women at risk or affected with female cancer

Tuesday January 25, 2022 – 14:30 – 16:00 (Dubai time zone)

Unicancer, the French Federation of Comprehensive Cancer Centers, welcomes you to its session on French innovation in the treatment of cancers in women. This session will cover both innovation in preventive and predictive medicine (i.e., personalized screenings) as well as therapeutic innovation such as proton therapy and immunotherapy. Led by Prof. Frédérique Penault-Llorca (nominated by Forbes France as one of the 40 most remarkable women of 2021), the Unicancer session will benefit from the presence of eight internationally renowned speakers.
